

Let's talk Culture

Art and story on the journey

Indigenous artist Maddi Moser's work gives a unique welcome to Mt Buller visitors with a new sweeping mural installation at the White Bridge corner on the Mt Buller Road. This piece embodies a connection to Taungurung Country linking themes of the crucial shared water source and the journey to the mountain. The mural serves an important practical purpose, protecting the road from landslip and is a reminder of the country we are on.

New Gallery

The HarroArt Gallery brings an exciting new creative space to the Mt Buller Village. Harrington's dramatic fine art photographs are the focus, complemented by an array of carefully curated local works from artists including ceramic art, paintings and unique ocean and alpine influenced items. A program of 'talk story' is planned this season, bringing small groups together for a variation on après centred around a film, speaker or custom slide show.

History lives here

Mt Buller is home to the National Alpine Museum of Australia. Travel back in time and lose yourself in the newly refurbished National Alpine Museum of Australia on level 1 in Alpine Central this winter. The expanded and updated space showcases a superb collection of artefacts including ski paraphernalia, classic clothing through the ages, Olympic memorabilia and superb photographs and posters that celebrate the history of Mt Buller, snowsports and Australian alpine culture.

Cinema - on a mountain top!

Mt Buller boasts Australia's highest cinema and treats visitors to a program of Hollywood releases mixed in with ski films, short films and winter highlights like the Warren Miller and Banff Mountain Film Festival each season. 180 seats, freshly popped corn and a big screen – sit back and enjoy!

Sculpture Walk

As you explore the Mt Buller village you'll be inspired by the artistic influence of the resort's collection of sculptures and installations. From large scale bronze works, to quirky and fun installations these pieces add a creative flair to the resort and take on interesting changes as the snows come and go. The collection is possible thanks to donations from benefactors, acquisitions through the former Mt Buller Easter Art Show, the Mt Buller Sculpture Award 2013 and the Buller Arts Association. There is an audio accompaniment to the walk on the Buller Walks App.
